Introduction

Welcome to the Nahj al-Balaghah, the world of Imam Ali, may peace be upon him.

Here is a small selection from the great collection of speeches, sermons, letters, and sayings of the Imam, next only to the Qur'an in its beauty.

This work, which is one of the masterpieces of Arabic prose is difficult to translate, especially for a children's book. Yet we have tried to select the simplest of its passages which can be useful for children. These small passages, together with the illustrations, are a small window into the great world of Imam Ali, peace be on him, who was the most perfect of human beings after the Prophet Muhammad, may Allah bless him and his Household.

The creation

He made the creation without any example and without the advice of a counsel or the assistance of a helper.

(Sermon 155)

The earth

He created the earth and suspended it,
retained it without support, made it stand without legs, and raised it without pillars.
(Sermon 185)

The winds

He brought out the creation by His power and made the winds blow

With His compassion.

(Sermon 1)

The moon

Then He decorated the heavens with the stars and the light of the meteors and set the shining sun and the bright moon in an orbit that rolls around.

(Sermon 1)

The night

Praise be to Allah

when the night falls and darkens,

and praise be to Allah when the stars shine and set.

(Sermon 48)

The sun

Look at the sun and the moon,

the plants and the trees, the water and the stones, at the alteration of day and night, the gush of the oceans, the great number of the mountains and the height of their peaks, at the difference of languages and the variety of tongues.

(Sermon 185)

The Ant

Look at the ant

with its small body

and delicate form.

See how it crawls on the earth and leaps at its livelihood.

It carries the grain to its hole and stores it in its storage.

It collects during the summer for the winter, and during strength for the period of its weakness.

(Sermon 185)

The Feet

Glorified is Allah

who has given feet

to the ant and the gnat, and created those bigger than them, the fishes and the elephants.

(Sermon 165)

The Locust

If you wish,

I will tell you about the locust.

Allah gave it two red eyes, with pupils like two moons, made its small ears,

opened for it a suitable mouth, and gave it a keen sense.

He gave it two front teeth to cut with and two sickle – like feet to grip with.

(Sermon 185)

The Birds

The birds are subject to His commands.

He knows the number of their feathers and the count of their breaths.

He has made their feet stand on water and on land.

He knows all their species.

There is the crow,

and the eagle,

the pigeon,

and the ostrich.

(Sermon 185)

The Peacock

The most amazing among them is the peacock in its creation, which Allah has created in the finest harmony and arranged its hues
in the best composition, with wings well tacked together and a long trailing tail.

(Sermon 165)

The Bat

An example of His delicate product, a marvel of His creation, and a sample of His profound wisdom, is what we see in the bat, which shrinks from the daylight, although daylight moves everything else to action,
and is active in the night, although the night stops the activity of every other living being.

(Sermon 155)

The Fishes

God is aware of the cries of the beasts in the forests, of the sins of the people in private,
of the movements of the fishes in deep oceans,
and the uproar of the waters by strong winds.

(Sermon 198)

Livelihood

Every thing submits to Him, and everything exists by Him.

He is the recourse of every poor, the honour of the lowly, the might of the weak,
and the comfort of the grieved.

He hears the speech of every speaker, and knows the secret thoughts of one who keeps silent.

He provides the livelihood of every living thing, and to Him returns everything that dies.

(Sermon 109)

David

David

The receiver of the Psalms and the reciter of the dwellers of paradise, used to make baskets of palm leaves with his own hands, and he would say to his companions,

“Which of you will help me sell them?”

He ate bread made of barley bought with that money.

(Sermon 160)

Herbs

Moses said:

“O my Lord, surely I have need of whatever good you may send down upon me.”

And by God,
he asked Him only for bread to eat, because he used to eat herbs of the earth and the greenness of the herbs could be seen under the skin of his belly due to his leanness!

(Sermon 160)

Winter

I will tell you about Jesus, son of Mary.

he had a stone for his pillow, wore coarse dress,

and ate rough food.

His lamp at night was the moon, and the earth's vast expanse east and west, his roof during winter.

His dessert and relish were what grows on the earth for cattle.

His feet were his means of transport and his two hands his servant.

(Sermon 160)

Good Tidings

Then Allah sent Muhammad, may God

Bless him and his Household, as a witness,

a bearer of good tidings, and a warner.

the best of the creation as a child, and the most chaste amongst them as a grown up, the purest of the pure in conduct, and the most generous of those who are approached for their generosity.

(Sermon 105)

The People of Arabia

Allah sent Muhammad, may Allah bless him and his Household, as a warner for all the worlds,

and as the trustee of His revelation, while you, the people of Arabia, followed the worst of creeds and were the most ill placed.

You lived amongst harsh rocks and venomous serpents.

You drank muddy water and ate coarse food.

You shed each others blood

And broke the ties of kinship.

Idols stood amongst your midst

And sins held you in their bondage.

(Sermon 26)

Idols

Allah sent Muhammad (S.A.W.)

with truth

so that He may take out His people from the worship of idols towards His worship and from obeying Satan towards obeying Him.

(Sermon 145)

The Holy Prophet

Follow your Prophet, the best of the good and purest of pure, may God bless him and his Household.

He is the example for one to follow, and comfort for one who seeks happiness.

The most beloved of servants to God is one who follows His Prophet and walks in his footsteps.

He, may God bless him and his Household,

would sit on the ground

when eating food, and he would sit like a slave.

He would mend his shoes with his own hands and patched his clothes himself.

(Sermon 160)

The Revelation

When the Revelation descended on the Prophet, may God bless him and his Household, I heard a wailing cry.
I said: “O messenger of Allah, what is this wailing?”
He replied,
“This is Satan, who has lost all hope of being worshipped.
O Ali, you see what I see,

and you hear what I hear, only that you are not a prophet.
But you are a minister and on the path of virtue.”

(Sermon 192)

The Stars

Behold!

The example of the Household of Muhammad (S.A.W.)

is like the stars of the heaven:

when one stars sets

another one rises.

(Sermon 100)

The Rain

The riser has risen, the sparkler has sparkled, the appearer has appeared.
Allah has replaced
one people with another.
We awaited these changes as the famine stricken await the rain.
Certainly the Imams are the vicegerents of Allah over his creatures, and they make people know Allah.
No one will enter Paradise, except he knows them and they know him.....

(Sermon 150)

The Qur'an

Certainly the Qur'an

is wonderful in its outward form, and its inner meanings are profound.

(Sermon 18)

Leader

To them (the Household of the Prophet) pertain the noblest of human virtues described in the Qur'an, and they are the treasures of the Beneficent Allah.

When they speak, they speak the truth, but when they keep quiet, no one can out strip them.

The leader should speak truthfully to his people, and put all his intelligence to work.

He should be one of those who work for the next world,

because he has come from there and would return to it.

(Sermon 154)

The Tree of Prophethood

We are the tree of Prophethood, the place of descent of Divine revelation,

the place of frequenting of the angels,

and the mainsprings of knowledge.

Those who help us and love us await (God's) mercy, and those who regard us with enmity and hatred

await to be subdued

(by the Almighty's power and punishment).

(Sermon 109)

A Lamp in the Darkness

Amongst you, I am like a lamp in the darkness.

Everyone making his way through the darkness have to get light from it.

(Sermon 187)

A Grain of Barley

By God,
were I given all the seven heavens with all they contain in order that I may disobey God
by depriving an ant
from the husk of a grain of barley, I would not do it.
(Sermon 224)

Two Loaves of Bread

You should know that your Imam has settled for two worn pieces of clothing out of the (comforts of the) world, and two loaves of bread for his meal.

(Letter 45)

Mosquito

The annihilation of the world after bringing it into being is no stranger than its origination and creation.

How can it be so?

For even if all its living beings, birds and beasts,

the animals of the stable and the pasture,

all the genera and species of beings, the dull and the intelligent of the world's nations

—were all of them together try to create a mosquito, they will be incapable of bringing it into being,

and will not know how it has been created.

(Sermon 185)

Paradise

Today is the day of preparation and Tomorrow is the day of the contest.

The finishing point is Paradise, and those who fail to reach it will land in hellfire.

(Sermon 28)

The Earth's Produce

Certainly, Allah makes His creatures suffer when they do evil works, by diminishing the earth's produce, by holding back the blessings, and by blocking the sources of benefit, so that those who wish to repent may repent...

(Sermon 143)

Water

You should know that every action is the fruit of a tree.

A tree cannot go without water, and water is of various kinds.

A tree that receives good water, is healthy and its fruit is sweet.

A tree that grows on bad water is vicious, and its fruit bitter.

(Sermon 154)

With Insight

One who sees with his heart, and acts with insight, considers before doing anything whether his action would be to his benefit or harm.
If it is beneficial for him, he performs it,
but if it is harmful,
he refrains from it.

(Sermon 154)

Off The Road

One who acts without knowledge is like one who walks off the road.

Then his deviating from the clear path takes him farther and farther away from his destination.

But one who acts with knowledge is like one who walks on the clear path.

Therefore, one should see whether he is moving forward towards his goal or going backwards.

(Sermon 154)

The Spring Of Hearts

Learn the Qur'an,
for it is the most splendid of all speech;
and become learned in it, for it is the spring of the hearts.

Cure yourselves with its light, for it is a remedy for sick hearts.

Recite it in the best manner, for it is the fairest of accounts.

(Sermon 110)

Prayer

Commit yourselves to prayer and be watchful over it.

Pray as much as you can and seek nearness to God through it.

(Sermon 199)

The Sacred House

Allah has made obligatory upon you the pilgrimage (Hajj)
to His sacred house, which is the qiblah
for mankind.

(Sermon 1)

Jihad

Jihad

is one of the gateways of Paradise which Allah has opened for the elect among His friends.

(Sermon 27)

The Strongest

Remember that wood of the tree which grows in the desert has the strongest fibres, while the luxuriant greenery has the softest barks.

The bushes of the desert make an enduring fuel,

Whose fire is slow in dying off.

(Letter 45)

Life

O God, send out for us Your rains, Your bounty,
Your provision, and your mercy, and give us water in a measure that would benefit us, satiates our thirst, and makes the land green with grass, wherewith all that has withered may grow, and come to life all that has died, a rain which brings abundance, produces plenty of fruits, watering the plains,
flooding the valleys,
dressing the trees with foliage, and bringing the prices down.
Surely You are able to do whatever

You will.
